AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers."

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro."

Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPYPSIA they are invaluable."

Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

SOMEHOW OR OTHER WE GET ALONG.

The good wife bustled about the house,
Her face still bright with a pleasant smile,
As broken snatches of happy song
Strengthened her heart and band the while,
The good man sat in the chimney nook,
The little clay pipe within his lips,
And all he'd made, and all he'd lost,
Ready and clear on his finger tips.

"Good wife, I've just been thinking a bit,
Nothing has done very well this year,
Money is bound to be hard to get.
Everything's sure to be very dear.
How the cattle are going to be fed,
How we're to keep the boys at school,
Is a kind of debit and credit sum
I can't make balance by my rule."

She turned her around from the baking board;
And she faced him with a cheerful laugh;
"Why, husband dear, one would think
That the good rich wheat was only chaff.
And what if wheat is only chaff,
As long as we both are well and strong;
I'm not a woman to worry a bit,
Some or other we get along."

"Into all lives rain must fall,
Over all lands the storm must beat,
But when the pain and the storm are o'er
The after sunshine is twice as sweet.
Through every straight we have found a road,
In every grief we have found a song,
We had to bear and had to wait,
But somehow or other we have got along."

"For thirty years we have loved each other
Stood by each other whatever befel;
Six boys have called us 'father' and 'mother,'
And all of them living and doing well.
We owe no man a penny, my dear,
We both of us loving, and well and strong,
Good man, I wish you would smoke again,
And think how well we have got along."

He filled his pipe with a pleasant laugh,
He kissed his wife with a tender pride,
He said, "I'll do as you tell me, love,
I'll just count up on the other side."
She left him then with his better thought,
And lifted her work with a low, sweet song,
A song that followed me many a year—
"Somehow or other we get along!"

THE MURDERERS.

Sketches of the Dublin Prisoners as They Listen to the Evidence.

The London Times gives the following account of the Dublin trials and of the scene when Kavanagh turned informer: The counsel and solicitors engaged for the prisoners were in their places at the appointed hour. While the bench and the dock were still unoccupied the assembly waited in patient expectation and conversed upon the all-absorbing subject. At length the Crown counsel arrived; the magistrates, Mr. Keyes, Q. C., and Mr. Woodcock, took their seats, together with Mr. C. O'Connell the junior magistrate, who sat on the bench, but took no official part in the inquiry. A commotion was then heard in the dock; half a dozen burly policemen clustered at each side, and in a few minutes the prisoners were seen emerging from the underground passage which communicates with the goal. All eyes in court were turned upon them, and it was observed that the positions of the more prominent were changed, that some were absent who had stood with them in former days, while two new comers had been substituted for them.

The two Mullets, who had been in the front, were now hardly visible in the background, but Joe Brady was in the place which he occupied on the last occasion, while James Carey, the town councillor of the Dublin corporation, had resigned his old place to Fitzharris, more generally known on the cabstands as "Skin the Goat." Had an artist arranged the group for effect it could not have been better done, for "Skin," as he is fondly called by his friends, looked at once a counter-part of "Joe" who might still have been regarded as the villain of the piece but for the superior title to that distinction which was stamped on Fitzharris' face. To attempt to describe his features would be useless, for it is difficult to find any. They appeared to have been all knocked into one, like those of a battered prize fighter fresh from a "mill" his eyes being almost closed, and his nose flattened out, with only enough of it left to mark the spot where it had been. Indeed, his whole face is of vermillion hue, gnarled as an oak and grizzled as a bear. Beside him stood another stranger, a young man named Hanlon, about twenty-five years of age, with black hair and mustache and of rather respectable appearance.

Next to him in front of the dock stood Timothy Kelly, who looks quite a lad, of a soft, boyish countenance, but of a reckless manner. The party, on entering the dock, manifested but in a less degree the defiant spirit which they had at first assumed, but there was a remarkable transformation in their demeanor when Kavanagh ascended the table to give evidence against them. They look aghast, and in them confusion and despair were betrayed in every look, though they sometimes made an effort to seem indifferent. As the witness related each incident in the dreadful story and identified the prisoners whom he named, their countenances reflected in the dark shadows which passed across them the dismay which they felt. Brady literally uttered a growl of hate and fury like that of a wild beast when Kavanagh pointed to him and then buried his face in his hands. He rested on the bar of the dock, while the nervous working of his face indicated the agitation and excitement under which he labored. The account which the witness gave of the assassins before they did their cruel work, and the route which they took when they effected their escape, was listened to with breathless interest. The general silence observed by the audience was rudely broken occasionally by such exclamations as "You scorpion" and "You are a liar" from Fitzharris, who, with arms folded and his face as red as a muffer, scowled upon the witness from the dock, while Delany, who sat in front of it, crouched so low as hardly to be visible.

Keeping the Head Clean.

The Druggists' Circular gives the following recipe for the "dry shampoo," and considerably used by barbers, now generally known as "sea foam":

Alcohol.....8 ounces
Water.....16 ounces
Ammonia.....1 ounce
Cologne.....1 ounce

It is rubbed on the head until the liquid evaporates. No subsequent rinsing is necessary.

A distinguished physician, who had spent much time at quarantine, said that a person whose head was thoroughly washed every day rarely took contagious diseases; but where the hair was allowed to become dirty and matted, it was hardly possible to escape infection. Many persons find speedy relief for nervous headache by washing the hair thoroughly in weak soda water. I have known severe cases almost wholly cured in ten minutes by this simple remedy. A friend finds it the greatest relief in cases of "rare cold," the cold symptoms entirely leaving the eyes and nose after one thorough washing of the hair. The head should be thoroughly dried afterward, and not exposed to draughts of air for a little while.

His Error.

A western man went to New York on a little spree and he found that every time he made a move it jerked his pocket book open. On Sunday he went to church and the sermon was on Free Salvation. When it was about half over he arose in his seat and said:

"Look here, Mr. Preacher, did I understand you to say that salvation was free here?"

"Yes, brother, full and free to all who ask."

"Well, I'm a steer if I aint glad to hear it. Everything I've struck in New York yet has cost me so darn much money that I didn't think anything was free. I guess I'll take a little of it if you'll let me see a sample."

But before he could continue his remarks a deacon collared him and he was fired out.

"I knowed it," he said, as the doors closed on him. "That preacher was a puttin' up a job on me, and that is what I get for being such a danged sucker as to bite. New York aint no town for me to live in, and I'm going out west where a man has a show for his white alley."

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce J. D. KEHOE as a candidate for re-election to the office of Representative for Mason County in the General Assembly of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

ED. BULLETIN: Permit me briefly, through your columns, to return my sincere thanks to the many kind friends who have signed calls soliciting me to become a candidate for Representative of Mason County, and in response to said calls I announce myself a candidate, subject to the decision of the Democratic party in the primary election to be held March 10th. February 22, 1883. A. P. GOODING.

I hereby announce my candidacy for your Representative in the next Legislature, subject to the decision of the Democracy at the primary election, March 10th. I am in favor of a return to the good old days of the whipping post, and shall make it my business, should I be elected, to see that the subject is brought prominently and squarely before that body. If there is any one thing, more than another, that should have the attention of our Representatives, it is some efficient punishment for petty stealing, &c. If something is not done at once there will not be enough chickens left in Kentucky to run a camp meeting, nor rails enough left to fence in a ten acre lot. I ask every one in favor of the whipping post to cast their vote for me, promising them that I will do all that can be done to get the bill through. GEORGE TAYLOR. Washington, Ky., February 28, 1883.

Cheap Barometer.

Take a common glass pickle bottle, wide mouthed, fill it within three inches of the top with water, then take a Florence oil flask, removing the straw covering and cleansing the flask thoroughly; plunge the neck of the flask as far as it will go into the bottle, and the barometer is complete. In fine weather the water will rise to the neck of the flask, even higher than the neck of the pickle bottle, and in wet, windy weather it will fall to within an inch of the flask. Before a heavy gale of wind the water has been seen to leave the flask altogether, at least eight hours before the gale came to its height.

THE noise made by the machinery at the pump house, which has been a source of great annoyance to those who live near by has been entirely done away with by Mr. Shaffer the new superintendent. The noise of pumping can not now be heard outside the building.

THE Emmet Rifles expect to be paid this week for their services during the campaign at Grayson. The commissioned officers will receive $50, non-commissioned officers $35 and privates $30. The allowance for rations will slightly increase the above amounts.

THERE is a great deal of sickness in Maysville just now, but not of a very serious nature. The doctors are however kept very busy.

JOHN D. GROOVES, a farmer of Nichols county, W. Va. was defrauded of $660, by three card monte men, on the Fleetwood on Wednesday of last week.

MAYSVILLE ought to supply the pressed brick for the new court house at Lexington. They are made here and are of a better quality than can be had this side of Philadelphia, and are quite as low in price as the best sell for.

THE sufferers from the flood at Aberdeen, and there were many, we are informed, were cared for by the citizens of that place, all help proffered from the outside being declined. This speaks volumes for the liberality of the good people of that town.

PROF. WIGGINS' warning is as follows:

"A great storm will strike this planet on the 9th of March. It will first be felt in the Northern Pacific, and will cross the meridian of Ottawa at noon on Sunday, March 11, 1883. No vessel smaller than a Cunarder will be able to live in this tempest. India, the South of Europe, England, and especially the North American Continent, will be the theatre of its ravages. As all the low lands on the Atlantic will be submerged, I advise ship builders to place their prospective vessels high up on the stocks, and farmers having loose valuables, such as hay, cattle, &c., to remove them to a place of safety. I beg further, most respectfully, to appeal to the Honorable the Minister of Marine, that he will peremptorily order up the storm signals on all the Canadian coast not later than February 20th, and thus permit no vessel to leave harbor. If this is not done hundreds of lives will be lost and millions worth of property destroyed."

SAYS the Covington Commonwealth: What is needing in Kentucky in regard to popular education is to arouse public interest to the magnitude of the question. We have enough of law in regard to common schools, but not enough money to make them effective; we have enough officials in charge of the system, but possibly their efforts are not always properly directed. There is an unaccountable indifference on the part of the masses of the people to the subject. With a wide-awake and wide-spread interest, which would carry with it real watchfulness, we have no doubt the school fund could be made to go further and the State, county and district officers be urged to more alertness and efficiency.

COUNTY POINTS.

GERMANTOWN.

'Squire Coleman's school at Beach Grove closed Wednesday.

Our farmers are now engaged in burning tobacco beds. They anticipate raising a large crop of tobacco this season.

The wheat crop is looking much better than it did some weeks ago, a few warm days will bring it out.

Mr. E. Williams and D. Norris, two of our tobacco merchants spent the latter part of last week in Cincinnati.

Miss Wallingford and her brother, of Maysville, were visiting Miss Bettie Breeces last week.

John Orme, of Bridgeville, Bracken county, moved near Fern Leaf, Mason county, last week.

The protracted meeting at the Christian Church under the leadership of Rev. J. C. Hardin, has resulted in twenty-five additions.

U. R. SMILING.

MILLWOOD.

Mrs. Julia Calvert is on the sick list.

Mrs. Nancy Proctor has returned to her home at Elizaville.

Our merchant took a flying trip to Covington Saturday.

William Wells is erecting a tenant house on his farm.

Mrs. James Cord visited friends at Orangeburg last week.

FIDELITY.

[From another correspondent.]

R. W. Harrison is in Cincinnati this week purchasing his stock of spring groceries, dry goods, notions, etc. He is the boss grocery man in this part of the country.

R. W. Wells and Henry T. Cord are in Cincinnati this week moving tobacco.

R. Wells is proud as a cricket of his twin boys and thinks they will soon be able to handle the weed.

W. O. Cord went to Covington Saturday, I suppose on business.

Miss Lide Hord, of Flemingsburg, has returned home. She is a charming young lady and will doubtless cause many of our boys to sigh for their first love.

Misses Eva and Lide Hord are visiting friends in Flemingsburg.

DARLING.

MT. GILEAD.

A grand wedding anticipated soon, parties well known, will write particulars when it occurs.

Mr. M. B. Bramel, died February 27, 1883, from effects of a severe cold which he caught a few weeks since.

A runaway team on Thursday evening went through town at a fearful rate but we learn that no serious damage was done.

Mrs. Summers from Flemingsburg, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Wallingford, near this place.

Contributions solicited to buy an alarm watch to be presented to the Mt. Gilead, postmaster, to teach him the value of early rising.

Mrs. Charles Calvert, from near Orangeburg, has been visiting her father's family and other relations in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Linda Wallingford, who has been visiting her son, Mr. J. H. Wallingford, on the Maysville and Orangeburg pike, has returned home.

Miss Lizzie M. Calvert, a fair young blonde is the recipient of a very handsome present from her brother Mr. Charles. It was a fine saddle horse.

Mr. Charles Wallingford, from near German-town, passed through town on Wednesday last (his destination, Mrs. Sallie Stone's) with two young ladies Miss Emma Hull, a brown eyed Missourian, and cousin Miss Lillie Cooper a gray eyed Kentuckian lassie.

An exciting affair occurred on Friday evening. A horse that was just unhitched from a buggy which stood in front of a blacksmith shop, either took fright or became angry at its master and began backing and kicking at him furiously. The men all stood aghast when three young ladies who were walking down street, ran to his aid and rescued him from what might have ended in a fearful death as he had no way of defending himself. The gentleman is now in a state of single blessedness, 'tis said to think what a happy termination to this little romance is spoiled by there being three rescuers and only one rescued. But perhaps they may have recourse to the ancient method of drawing straws.

A musical entertainment was given Friday evening at Mr. Clay Stone's in honor of Miss Hull, from Platte county, Mo., and Miss Cooper from Milford, Ky. The music was furnished by the Goodman brothers and was of course excellent and was very highly appreciated. To the regret of several gentlemen the young ladies left on Saturday for Flemingsburg where they will remain a few days before the departure of Miss Hull, for her home whence she is recalled by the protracted illness of her mother. Her departure is lamented by her many friends and relatives, but the star of hope at first faintly peeping above the horizon grows brighter and—never mind Kentucky has some charming lads and is a grand old place for a future home. SAY YOU DO.

WIT AND WISDOM.

—Shallow men believe in luck; strong men believe in cause and effect.

—You can have what you like in this world, if you will but like what you have.

—Said a fond husband to his wife: "My dear, I think I'll buy you a little dog." "Oh, no!" she replied, "do not! I prefer giving you all my affections!" —Progress.

—Here lies a man whose earthly race is run; He raised the hammer of a fowl ig gun. And blew into the muzzle just because He wished to know if it was loaded—and it was.

—Somerville Journal.

—Mr. Editor: Will you please answer who was "David's wife's mother?" and you will greatly oblige a reader.—Liz-zie. Certainly, with pleasure. David's wife's mother was David's mother-in-law. —Philadelphia News.

—An accordion factory at Long Island, N. Y., was destroyed by fire a few days ago. The police are looking for the incendiary. It is supposed the people want to present him with a valuable testimonial. —Norristown Herald.

—Gus De Smith called at a very fashionable house on Austin avenue a few days ago and acted so queerly that when that lady's husband came home, she said: "What is the matter with young De Smith? He acted so strangely. I think there must be a screw loose about him somewhere." "Reck-on not. I saw him this morning, and he was tight all over." —Texas Siftings.

—A store up-town has a sign which reads: "This is a tin-store." An old inebriate staggered in recently, and after a good deal of fumbling in his pocket, put five cents on the counter. "What do you want?" asked the proprietor, indignantly. "Wa-wa-want a-a-d-d-drink!" "This is not a liquor saloon!" said the proprietor, with awful emphasis. "Wha-wha-what!" said the drunken man, astonished. "Why, Jo-Jo-Jones said I could get a horn here!" —N. Y. Tribune.

—A good adviser says: "Next to the love of her husband, nothing so crowns a woman's life with honor as the devotion of a son to her. We never knew a boy to turn out badly who began by falling in love with his mother. Any man may fall in love with a fresh-faced girl, and the man who is gallant to the girl may cruelly neglect the poor and weary wife in after years. But the big boy who is a lover of his mother at middle age is a true knight, who will love his wife in the serene autumn as he did in the daisied spring. There is nothing so beautifully chivalrous as the love of a big boy for his mother. Boys, think of this."

Matrimonial Item.

The most candid young man in Austin is Nicodemus Murphy. He called at the office of a wealthy citizen, and came right out and said:

"I want to marry your daughter. I can't live without her."

"Are you acquainted with my daughter?"

"Not in the least."

"How then do you know you can't live without her?"

"Well, I heard you were going to give her lots of money when she married, and my personal expenses are so heavy I can't live without her—or some other woman who has got money to support a husband." —Texas Siftings.

—A soldier confined in an English prison for desertion has written a plea for pardon based wholly on the ground that his absence from duty was much lengthened by inability to surrender himself, as nobody would take him back. He says he walked from London to the headquarters of his regiment, and presented himself to the guard, who growled that he "knew nothing about deserters." At the main guard-room he was told that he could not be taken in; he must give himself up to the police. So he started toward London again, meeting a constable in Lewisham road, who told him: "You're no use to me, anyway, now." Finally he gave himself up at a police court. —Chicago Herald.

—Many in this world run after felicity like an absent-minded man running after his hat, while all the time it is on his head or in his hand. —Sydney Smith.
